

Wedding Doves

Making New Memories Since 1991

About Us...

The White Dove Company was the very first company to provide pure white doves for release at weddings, funerals and other events in the UK.

We pride ourselves on being the market leader achieving the highest quality of service and providing an unforgettable moment personally tailored for your occasion. Over the past two decades The White Dove Company has provided doves for release at thousands of individual events, as well as high profile celebrations.

Our beautiful doves have marked some of the most publicised events of the past two decades. Joyful and memorable occasions such as the release of 100 doves at The Queen Mother's birthday celebrations at Horse Guards' Parade. The 60th National Anniversary of the end of World War Two. The release of 80 doves booked by U2's Bono at the Live Aid concert in Hyde Park. Heart filled sadness for Sarah Payne's memorial at Guildford Cathedral.

Whether your clients are uniting new love, saying a fond farewell or celebrating something special, the flight of our doves will lift your inner spirits. We offer a personal and professional service handling all necessary arrangements for a symbolic dove release at your events, allowing your clients to enjoy and cherish a memorable moment together.

New Beginnings New Chapters...

Your clients wedding day will be one of the most memorable days of their life as they embark on a new beginning with the one they love.

By releasing a pair of doves they will openly voice their promised vows and entwine love with new dreams to look forward to...

An experienced and smartly dressed dove handler will arrive at your venue with the dove(s) and set up as per instructed. Our handler will stay with the doves and assist with requests, whether they be photographs with the doves, handling the doves and the set up and release of flocks.

Our doves can be released from almost anywhere, as long as they have an open space in which to gain their flight and bearings, they will navigate home safely.

Newlyweds will each receive naturally moulted white feathers in a small keepsake bag as a memory of the event.

Asian Weddings

Decorative doves can be placed at the entrance of the venue or in receptions, & lobbies to welcome the guests as they arrive. The doves will be placed in decorated hanging baskets which is hung on an ornate stand.

These can be booked for a short time or through the day, and we can supply a total of six decorative cages at any event.

The Bride and Groom will have the choice to release a pair of doves from the cage or by hand. Or experienced dove handler will be with them at all time to assist them. The perfect symbol of unity and commitment as they begin their new lives together.

Celebratory flocks are usually released from beautifully decorated white wicker baskets - A flock of doves represents the celebration joy and happiness the couple will share with friends & family on their special day - These make wonderful photographic moments.

Beautiful flocks can be released from 10 doves to a spectacular 100 doves.

Anniversaries & Celebrations...

With each passing year new memories are made, shared and celebrated.

Whether your clients are celebrating a wedding, anniversary, christening, a birthday or a memorable marked occasion - it is a special moment of achievement and recognises unforgettable moments that have been shared together.

Anniversary Doves - The release of two doves is often used to commemorate the important milestones in married life and offer hope and love for the continued journey.

Christening Doves - The release three doves representing Health, Wealth and Happiness will symbolically represent the love, commitment and promises made to the child (children) on their special day.

Each Godparent and Parents can release a dove each, representing their individual promises.
